

Production On-Demand (PODs)

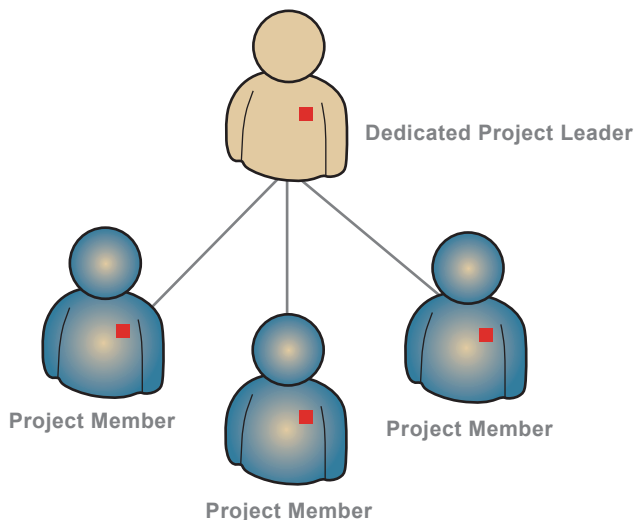

Turnkey CAD Operations using a team based approach

Our proven approach centers on a dedicated CAD Team Leader supported by three or more dedicated off-site team members. The Team Leader coordinates projects with your internal staff, devising schedules and deliverables to meet even the most exacting needs and standards.

Unlike staff augmentation, PODs provide your firm a stable of talent and the expertise to handle projects on your schedule, while using and refining your processes – all for a fixed monthly fee.

Gain From Our Experience

- Skilled teams that are accustomed to using all leading software applications.
- Proven results built on mature project management expertise.
- Successful portfolio of project experience and best practices.

The Benefits To You Include:

- Fixed cost CAD production yields better forecasting, predictability cost savings.
- Dedicated project management means clearer communication and workflow.
- Focused design staff streamlines an organization and the client experience.
- Productive and finely tuned CAD resources available during all hiring cycles.

When faced with project demand and resource constraints, the peace of mind that comes from knowing your team can coordinate and execute is invaluable. With RCMS Production on Demand Services (PODs), your organization can tap qualified project managers and a bench of production veterans to get the job done.

Delivering results requires diligence, experience and team effort – we make it happen.
